ABOUT MAISON LEHMANN

Haussmann-style moldings and oenological precision come together at the headquarters of Maison Lehmann, the French brand of tasting glasses, located in Reims, Champagne

In this setting, Lehmann designs tasting glasses with a singular identity and a predilection for marrying elegance and technique. The contemporary curves of the Maison's creations convey the expression of the world's wines and enhance tasting moments without compromise.

All of Lehmann glasses are produced in crystalline, a lead-free crystal that guarantees exceptional brilliance, transparency and sound. Driven by the desire to convey a singular tasting experience, the Maison has launched into two years of research and development to offer Ultralight technology in 2021, applied to mouth-blown and machine-blown glasses. This technique produces glasses of exceptional finesse and optimal lightness, while enabling the company to meet growing market demand for premium tasting glasses

The Lehmann brand focused on the future, it's a collective adventure, a shared passion, a desire for elegance, sharing & ideals.
